

The largest expanse of protected natural areas in Spain

Welcome to the largest expanse of protected natural spaces in Spain, the largest green lung in the country. Jaén is a province where nature gives rise to an irresistible appeal for tourists. It boasts four natural parks, three areas of outstanding natural beauty, two nature reserves and ten natural monuments, making it unique in the Iberian Peninsula. More than three hundred thousand hectares, almost a third of the province's territory, are protected. The Sierras of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas represents the largest and most important natural space. A treasure trove of plant and animal life, a stunning and unique natural park where the Guadalquivir and Segura rivers rise, dotted with picturesque villages, centuries-old castles and routes walked by mankind since time immemorial. Jaén's other three natural parks are Sierra Mágina, Sierra de Andújar and Despeñaperros. Mágina is a geological rarity and a treasure chest of native flowers, in an abundance that can be found in only few European countries. Sierra de Andújar and Despeñaperros reach to the north of Jaén and form part of the Sierra Morena massif, a place of myth and legend, immortalised in literature and praised by travellers throughout the ages. 🌿

SIERRAS OF CAZORLA, SEGURA AND LAS VILLAS NATURAL PARK

This is the largest natural park in Spain and occupies the eastern side of Jaén province. It covers an area of more than two hundred and fourteen thousand hectares traversed by the River Guadalquivir, which is the longest river in Andalusia and has its source to the south of the park. Twenty-three of the ninety-seven municipalities in the province are to be found within the park. It is a Biosphere Reserve and given its size, diversity and contrasts, the park should be visited in a leisurely fashion.

Magical and mysterious. That is Sierra Mágina, the natural park of the Subbaetic massif, which covers an area of almost twenty thousand hectares and stretches to the south of the province. The park boasts one of the most valuable catalogues of native flowers in Europe and a rugged relief marked by the highest peaks of Jaén. Enchanting villages conserve a unique traditional architecture are scattered throughout the park.

This is the smallest natural park in the province, a sheer rocky gorge that is the only break in the rolling hills of the Sierra Morena. Situated to the north of Jaén, Despeñaperros is a natural pass crossed by a motorway and railway line. Nearby is the La Cimbarra waterfall, in Aldeaquemada, one of the three protected natural parks in the province.

Man and the mountains

The link with nature

For centuries, the Sierras of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas were known for timber cutting, so much so that in the 18th century they were declared a Maritime Terrestrial Province. El Seque-ro, in Siles, is a visitor centre about Traditional Woodland Arts and Trades. The history of the villages within the natural park is one of agriculture, farming and hunting. Some hamlets have well preserved examples of the traditional architecture favoured by the inhabitants. In Cazorla there is a Museum of Arts and Popular Customs and in the hamlet of Los Anchos you can visit an Ethnographic Collection that summarises peoples' ways of life in the mountains. Some of the villages still maintain traditions such as the game of mountain bowls.

Throughout history mankind has maintained a close relationship with nature. The society, economy and culture of dozens of villages in the province is marked by the character, resources and landscapes of Jaén's protected natural spaces.

1. Typical Cazorla street layout.
2. Lumberjacks in the Sierra de Segura (1930s).
3. Mountain bowls.
4. Ethnographic Museum in Los Anchos.
5. Sierra Mágina mountain spring.

Over the course of history the Sierra Mágina forged a magical link between mankind and nature that is revealed in festivities, scenes, rites and celebrations. The white architecture, seen in country estates and farmhouses, enhances the beauty of these villages. Sierra de Andújar is a vast territory that for centuries has been linked with hunting. However, in the early part of the 13th century a vision of the Virgin Mary, the Virgen de la Cabeza, is said to have appeared in the heart of the park. Ever since, this image has symbolised the oldest religious procession. The neighbouring park of Despeñaperros has been described by travellers throughout history, in particular by the romantic writers who documented their travels in the 18th and 19th centuries. In their books and engravings it was portrayed as a mythical place separating Andalusia from La Mancha. 🇪🇸

ROUTE MAP

The province's four natural parks constitute one of the biggest tourist attractions for visitors to Jaén. Travelling in a clockwise direction and following their actual position on the map, one option is to start your visit at the Sierras of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas (1), continue towards the south and Sierra de Andújar (2) and finishing in Despeñaperros (4), the gateway to Andalusia.

PROTECTED NATURAL SPACES IN THE PROVINCE OF JAÉN

Jaén boasts three AREAS OF NATURAL BEAUTY: Upper Guadalquivir, three reservoirs situated to the south of the La Loma region; the Cimbarra Waterfall in Aldeaquemada, a rugged enclave in the heart of the Sierra Morena, and Laguna Grande lake in Puente del Obispo (Baeza), which is home to an important colony of aquatic birds and a vegetation rich in ash trees and poplars.

The province's two NATURE RESERVES are situated in the municipal area of Alcaudete: Laguna Honda and Laguna del Chinche.

Jaén boasts other protected natural spaces such as the NATURAL MONUMENTS of El Piñalago (between Linares and Vilches), the Cánava pine forest (Jimena), the Dinosaur Footprints (Santisteban del Puerto), the Bañizuela Forest (Torredelcampo) and Los Órganos in Despeñaperros (Aldeaquemada), as well as two PERIURBAN PARKS in the municipal area of Jaén: Santa Catalina and Monte de la Sierra.

A botanical treasure

Jaén possesses the most extensive woodlands in Spain. The mountains of the Sierras of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas Natural Park are covered with oaks, gall oaks and holm oaks, and the longest-living trees in Spain grow at the foot of Pico Cabañas. Seventy per cent of the park is pine forest, consisting mainly of Corsican or European black pine. Growing along the riverbanks are poplars, ash, elm and hazel trees whilst junipers, maples, holly trees and hawthorns can be found in the high mountain reaches. The park boasts 2170 different species of plants, of which 34 are endemic to the region and occur nowhere else in the world. The most famous is the Cazorla violet, Violeta Cazorlensis. This natural park represents the largest expanse of forest in the Iberian peninsula. More than thirty species of flowers considered extremely rare in the Iberian Peninsula blossom in Mágina. The Lithodoras are the most precious. In Jimena you can find the Cánava Pine Forest, a patch of conifers that have been declared a Natural Monument. In Andújar and Despeñaperros there is an abundance of Mediterranean forest, ilexes and cork oaks. Of particular note in the former are the Pyrenean oak 🌿

Violeta cazorlensis and pine trees in Segura. On the right-hand page, Corsican pine, flowering cherry tree, hawthorn, pine trees in Despeñaperros, ashes on the banks of the Tranco, grassland, oleander, rock roses, woodland in the Sierra de Andújar and daffodils.

Animal life

The skies above the Sierras of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas are the domain of birds of prey, of particular note is the bearded vulture, a carrion bird that has been successfully reintroduced over recent years, and is also the park's emblem. Golden eagles, griffon vultures, eagle owls and falcons also dominate the skies. Standing out amongst the large mammals are the Spanish ibex, which inhabits high mountain crags, as well as red deer, wild boar and fallow deer. Amongst the reptiles, mention must be made of the Valverde lizard, which can only be found here.

Bearded vulture and Iberian lynx. On the right-hand page: griffon vulture, eagle owl, red deer, Spanish ibex, squirrel, lizard and wild boar.

In Mágina the Spanish ibex has colonised the highest peaks. Here, there are also red deer and wild boar, foxes, genets and badgers. The common midwife toad inhabits water courses and the Lataste's viper seeks out the most inaccessible rock walls of the park. Sierra de Andújar is a paradise for big game hunting, which takes place in winter and seeks out deer with large antlers. However, the Iberian lynx is the animal that symbolises both Andújar and Despeñaperros. In the vicinity of the latter you can find the La Olivilla species recovery centre, which breeds Iberian lynx. 🌱

The bearded vulture is a carrion bird of prey that has returned to the skies above the Sierras of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas thanks to the work of the breeding centres (in the picture). Another endangered species is the Iberian lynx, one of the most threatened feline species on the planet. The Sierra Morena is one of its last abodes.

Recipes with a mountain flavour

In the traditional mountain cuisine some dishes go by surprising names, such as rin-ran (in the picture above this text). Those dishes that are made with garlic are especially memorable and recognisable: ajoatao, ajoharina, ajolabrao, ajopringue and ajomulero.

To the left, extra virgin olive oil and a wooden bowl of pipirrana (diced salad).

The extra virgin olive oil produced from the olive trees in Jaén's natural parks is the irreplaceable ingredient in the tasty and varied local cuisine, which is highly regarded by the most demanding gourmets.

Olive oil is a key ingredient of popular dishes such as rin-ran (a potato and red pepper based stew), andrajós (a stew of rabbit or hare), migas (fried breadcrumbs usually served with chorizo), trout, cod with tomato and the delicious Segura lamb. Popular liquors such as cuerva (a type of sangria) and mistela are made in the villages of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas. In Sierra Mágina, Bedmar is famous for preserves and Torres for cherries. Sierra de Andújar boasts game stews, and Despeñaperros partridge paté. 🍴

AND DESSERT...

Alemanes (pastries with sponge cake and crème pâtissière from the north of Jaén) and to the right, gachas dulces (a type of sweet porridge) with cinnamon.

STARTERS...

Game salad and partridge paté (a delicious cream served on toasted bread prepared with partridge and other game meats, seasoned with local mountain herbs).

FIRST COURSE...

Chick pea stew with bread rolls and migas serranas (a traditional dish of fried breadcrumbs found in all four natural parks in the province).

SECOND COURSE...

Trout fillets with mushroom sauce and roasted vegetables and Segura lamb roasted in a wood-fired oven and served with patatas a lo pobre.

Leisure, festivities and performances

Twelve months of culture and festivities

The cities and villages that lie within the four natural parks in Jaén province celebrate an endless amount of cultural activities and festivals throughout the year. The Sierra de Segura hosts the “El Yelmo” International Air Festival, with numerous activities relating to air and flight. In July, Cazorla is the setting for the long-standing Cazorla Blues Festival. Quesada holds the Rafael Zabaleta Painting Competition and the neighbouring district of Tíscar holds a procession in honour of the Virgen de Tíscar in Spring. Also famous are the bull runs in Santiago de la Espada and the toros ensogaos festival (bulls tied at the horns are led through the village streets) in honour of San

MOORS AND CHRISTIANS

In summer, Campillo de Arenas, Carhelejo and Bélmez de la Moraleda, three villages that were once on the border between two kingdoms, celebrate the Moors and Christians festivals. Medieval texts known as embajadas, which record the meetings of envoys from each kingdom, are brought to life through staged re-enactments.

1. Romeria in honour of the Virgen de la Cabeza (Sierra de Andújar).
2. Bulls ensogaos (Beas de Segura).
3. Imagina Funk Festival (Torres).
4. Blues Cazorla Festival.
5. Historical re-enactments in the celebrations commemorating the Battle of Navas de Tolosa.

Marcos in Beas de Segura. In Al-banchez de Mágina the festival of the Hachones (flaming torches) is held in Spring, and in Bedmar there is a procession in honour of the Virgen de Cuadros. In July, Torres hosts the Imagina Funk music festival, the only one of its kind in Spain. In summer other localities in the natural park celebrate the traditional Moors and Christians festivals, which re-enact historical events. On the last Sunday of April, Andújar holds a procession in honour of the Virgen de la Cabeza, the oldest religious celebration of this nature in Spain. The Virgin, known as “La Morenita”, is paraded through the footpaths around her shrine, situated in the heart of Sierra Morena. In Santa Elena, in Despeñaperros, celebrations in honour of the patron saint are held in mid-August. Also in Summer, this and other neighbouring villages such La Carolina and Navas de Tolosa, which form part of the Castles and Battlegrounds Route, participate in the programme of events accompanying this itinerary. 🇪🇸

Natural Park

Sierras de Cazorla, Segura y Las Villas

The largest natural park in Spain

The park has various entrance and exit points located in the different municipalities that ring the largest protected space in Spain.

Essentials

The Sierras

of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas Natural Park is the largest protected natural space in Spain, and one of Europe's most valuable green lungs. The twenty-three municipalities that make up the park host a botanical and zoological treasure and a unique historical and ethnographical heritage.

SOURCE OF THE GUADALQUIVIR RIVER

Cazorla is an enchanting city, crowned by a castle that houses a museum of arts and popular customs, and the rocky outcrop Peña de los Halcones as a backdrop. After passing La Iruela and its castle, Control de Burunchel marks the entrance to the protected area covered by the park. From the Puerto de las Palomas there is a priceless view of the Guadalquivir valley. You need to head downhill to take the road that leads to the Vadillo Castril junction. On the road to Puerto de las Herrerías, the route is located at the foot of Cerrada del Utrero, symbolised by the Linarejos waterfall. The footpath leading to the source of the Guadalquivir river runs through the heart of the mountains. The source of the river lies in the municipality of Quesada, which is also home to the Rafael Zabaleta Museum, which has a collection of the work of the poet Miguel Hernández. The road leading to Pozo Alcón crosses the Puerto de Tíscar mountain pass, where you can find the Cueva del Agua (the Water Cave), one of the most beautiful enclaves in the mountains. 🌿

Surrounded by high peaks, the Guadalquivir Valley opens out as the river descends into the narrow Sierra de las Villas. The Torre del Vinagre Visitor Centre is the main meeting point in the park, a museum and educational space, helping visitors discover all the park has to offer. At the foot of this area is the River Borosa Visitor and Information Centre. This is the source of the arroyo de las Truchas, a stream that is one of the most beautiful natural settings in the park. Facing it is the path that climbs up to the Valdeazores lakes. The Collado del Almendral game reserve offers spectacular views across El Tranco reservoir, one of the largest in Andalusia, and the island of Bujaraiza crowned by an Arabic castle. One kilometre away is the Félix Rodríguez de la Fuente scenic viewpoint. This renowned naturalist used locations here for filming some of the most well known episodes of his television series “El hombre y la tierra”. From the viewpoint you can look out on the island of Cabeza de la Viña. 🌿

Four municipalities make up the Sierra de Las Villas: Sorihuela del Guadalimar, Villanueva del Arzobispo, Iznatoraf and Villacarrillo. Sorihuela borders the region of El Condado and close to the main square we can find the Church of Santa Águeda. On the outskirts of Villanueva del Arzobispo lies the Sanctuary of the Virgen de la Fuensanta, watched over by the town of Iznatoraf, which stands on a hilltop at an altitude of over a thousand metres. The Renaissance Church of La Asunción, which is the work of Vandelvira, can be found in Villacarrillo. The Charco de la Pringue pool is on one side of the road from Villanueva to El Tranco reservoir. Some kilometres before arriving here you can find the small village of Mogón, close to which is the La Osera Area of Natural Beauty, a charming series of water falls and cascades. The area known as Fuente del Roble boasts beautiful views. Further up the road is Aguascebas reservoir, the hamlet La Fresnedilla and the footpath that leads up to Navazalto, a mountain peak covered with juniper trees. 🌿

The largest area of the natural park is in La Sierra de Segura. Here you can find many picturesque villages. The old quarter of Beas is home to the Carmelitas convent. The neighbouring Arroyo del Ojanco boasts the thousand year old olive tree of Fuentebuena and the waters of the Guadalimar River flow through Puente de Génave. La Puerta de Segura is the entrance to the park. Here are the roads leading to municipalities such as Villarrodrigo, Torres de Albánchez, Siles, Benatac and Orcera. Segura de la Sierra is perched on an impregnable hilltop dominated by a castle that contains a thematic exhibition about the area's history. Like Segura, Hornos is also an historical and artistic site. The castle here houses Cosmolarium, an astronomical observatory. The most emblematic peak of the Sierra de Segura is El Yelmo. It can be reached on foot or by vehicle. The summit is often used as a launch site by gliders, which then land at Cortijos Nuevos, the village at the foot of the mountain. 🌿

Las Acebeas is a nature reserve and one of the park's most valuable botanical jewels. From here a forest track leads up to the peak of Navalperal. Flowing at its feet is the River Madera, which owes its name to the forestry work that centuries ago made this region a maritime province. A road leads from the hamlet of Venta Rampias to Los Anchos, where there is an ethnographic museum. The source of the River Segura lying close to the hamlet of Fuente Segura, is a pool of crystal clear waters fed by underground channels that circle the mountain. Santiago de la Espada is the largest municipality in Jaén. Its Areas of Natural Beauty include the picturesque hamlet of La Toba, close to the Anchuricas reservoir. Miller is another charming hamlet where the waters of the River Zumeta converge. From Santiago de la Espada roads lead to the hamlets situated on high plateaus that turn towards the south and the Campos de Hernán Perea and the La Bolera reservoir. 🌿

ACTIVE TOURISM IN CAZORLA, SEGURA AND LAS VILLAS

Long and short hiking trails, mountains bikes, horse riding, off-road vehicle excursions, rafting in canoes or kayaks, canyoning, abseiling, zipwire and climbing, caving, tracking and gymkhana trails, paint ball, paragliding and paramotor flights etc.

The Sierras of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas Natural Park is one of the preferred destinations for lovers of active and adventure tourism. The landscape here provides the perfect location for all kinds of outdoor activities. The villages that make up the park are the point of entry to protected areas and represent the best departure points for setting off on signposted paths, long and short routes that just ask to be explored. There are also different active tourism companies based in the villages. They organise a full range of activities, led by expert guides who know the hidden secrets of the largest natural park in Spain. 🇪🇸

“SOUTHERN WOODLANDS”, LONG DISTANCE TRAIL

ACTIVE TOURISM

THE CORE OF SIERRAS OF CAZORLA, SEGURA AND LAS VILLAS

The GR 247 “Southern Woodlands” trail represents a unique opportunity to discover the secrets of the great Jaén massif: its villages and hamlets, its people, the cuisine and customs, the fauna and flora in a singular setting classified as a Biosphere Reserve. Covering almost 500 kilometres, it passes through eighteen of the twenty-three municipalities that make up the park.

Web www.sierrasdecazorlaseguraylasvillas.es/gr247/

The Sierras of Cazorla, Segura and Las Villas Natural Park is now more attractive than ever. Unfolding throughout the park is a 478 kilometre circular trail, which connects the most beautiful places in one of the most valuable natural parks in Europe. The long distance trail is separated into 21 stages, 11 offshoots and 6 detours. Levels of difficulty are indicated in accordance with the official GR (long-distance route) and PR (short distance route) grading system. The trail passes through eighteen municipalities and you can start off in any one of them.

One of the big commitments made has been the restoration of emblematic forest houses, now converted into refuges for walkers. They are all clearly marked and well-maintained. Found beside trails, they are meeting points for lovers of nature and open spaces and are situated close to controlled camping areas and other refuges, rural accommodation and hotels, strengthening the infrastructure of the route. 🇪🇸

Sierra Mágina is a unique natural park owing to its exceptional geological and botanical value. Stretching south from the centre of the province, it covers a rugged and mountainous area of 19,900 hectares. It is surrounded by villages and numerous entrance points. The north-eastern area is humid and covered with forests of ilexes, pines and gall oaks. The eastern area towards the south-east has a much lower average rainfall. The northern road links Mancha Real and Jódar and passes beside villages such as Torres, from where there is road into the park that leads up to the neighbouring municipality of Albanchez de Mágina. Close by is La Fuenmayor area of natural beauty and footpaths that climb to the peaks of Mágina and Almadén, high mountain reaches. The southern road, which borders Huelma, leads to protected areas such as the peak of La Perdiz, with a signposted footpath can be followed to the summit, close to the Mata Bejid area of natural beauty and the natural park visitor centre. 🇪🇸

TO THE SOUTH

POINTS OF INTEREST

For centuries, the villages of Sierra Mágina have practised beliefs of an unknown origin, inspired by a magical ancestral world, such as coating front door locks with gachas, a type of porridge, on the eve of All Souls Day, supernatural beings such as the centaur like “juancaballos”, devotion to patron saints and the phenomenon of the Bélmez Faces.

At the end of the 15th century the border between the northern Castilian kingdoms and the Nasrid kingdom of Granada was in and around Cambil. The two castles that crown the locality remains from those border times. Arbuniel is a small village that comes under the jurisdiction of Cambil with springs that powered oil and flour mills in days gone by. To one side of the road linking Cambil and Huelma is the Mata Bejid area of natural beauty, which has examples of late 19th to early 20th century regionalist architecture. Huelma is the most inhabited municipality on the southern face of the Sierra Mágina and is close to Bélmez de la Moraleda, where the appearance of images of faces in two houses there is considered by some to be a paranormal phenomenon, which is still being researched today. Solera is crowned by a castle and near here extends the municipality of Cabra de Santo Cristo, photographed at the beginning of the 20th century by the artist Arturo Cerdá y Rico and boasting palaces and stately homes with a striking historicist style.

GASTRONOMY

OLIVE OIL CULTURE

In Sierra Mágina olive oil is somewhat more than a culinary ingredient. It is a social, cultural and economic symbol of all the villages that make up the Natural Park. Its olive groves produce an extra virgin olive oil, of the picual variety, under the Designation of Origin of the regulating board located in Bedmar.

The Sierra Mágina Natural Park includes the highest peaks in the province and looks out to the east across the banks of the River Guadalbullón. The river has water all year round, coming from the Sierra Sur, and flows north to join the course of the River Guadalquivir. It runs parallel to the Sierra Nevada motorway, and on its banks are the towns and villages that were the border between Jaén and Granada. La Guardia is crowned by a castle of Arabic origin. The architect Andrés de Vandelvira worked on the glorious Renaissance Church of the Asunción. Pegalajar is a splash of white at the foot of La Serrezuela. It is surrounded by valuable olive groves, as are the neighbouring towns of Cárchel and Carchelejo, scattered at the feet of the mountains of Los Grajales and Alta Coloma, and which, since 1979, have made up the municipality of Los Cárcheles. Campillo de Arenas awaits past the Santa Lucía ravine and, further south, the Carretero pass leads to Noalejo, on the border between Sierra Mágina and the Sierra Sur. 🟩

Starting out in Andújar the A-6178 divides the natural park in two. The road heads north to the lands of Castilla-La Mancha and as it ascends crosses mountains of medium height carpeted with ilexes and cork oaks, agricultural land and pasture land where fighting bulls graze. Having passed the Las Villas de Peñallana visitor centre and El Encinarejo recreational area it reaches the banks of the River Jándula, a beautiful route that contrasts the ecosystems of riverside and pasture land. A few kilometres further along you can find El Jabalí recreational area and the Sanctuary of the Virgen de la Cabeza. This religious temple dates back to the thirteenth century and stands atop the Cerro de El Cabezo hill, affording a stunning view of the park and other regions in Jaén province. The Natural Park is mostly made up of private hunting grounds. The hunts held here in winter are one of the hunting activities that bring most economic benefit to the city. 🟩

ACTIVE TOURISM IN SIERRA DE ANDÚJAR

THE NORTHERN AREA OF THE PARK, EL JÁNDULA AND EL ENCINAREJO

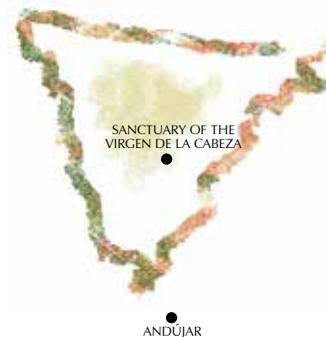

The Sierra de Andújar Natural Park has many trails open and is well suited to long distance hiking. One of the most interesting is known as Zona Norte. This trail leads to Sierra Madrona and Sierra Quintana and crosses the purest example of Mediterranean forest, a perfect place for observing large mammals and birds of prey. Another of the open trails at the gateway to the park is the path linking the River Jándula with the Encinarejo reservoir. This unfolds through one of the most valuable gallery forests in Jaén province. It's easy to see cormorants, grey herons, otters and even signs of the Iberian lynx.

LE SENTIER GR 48

This is a long-distance trail that joins the whole Sierra Morena and passes through the Sierra de Andújar Natural Park- It takes in some of the park's most beautiful landscapes, valleys carpeted by ilexes where fighting bulls graze, the banks of the great reservoirs and historical sites such as the sanctuary of the Virgen de la Cabeza.

The Sierra de Andújar Natural Park occupies an exceptional setting in the Sierra Morena, the great massif that links and separates Andalusia from La Mancha, Extremadura and the Portuguese border. The Iberian lynx roams amongst clusters of pines, ilexes and cork oaks, a synthesis of the best Mediterranean forest. This beautiful feline, endemic to Spain and Portugal, is considered to be in danger of extinction. Its image appears on numerous signs located on roads within the park, advising visitors of the presence of the lynx and requesting them to drive with care to avoid running over any animals. The interior of the park is criss-crossed by a dense network of trails, suitable for hikers or mountain bikes. They provide an excellent setting for wildlife photography. Visitors can observe families of deer and wild boars, as well as numerous birds of prey in flight. One of the park's attractions is known as the route of the reservoirs, which takes in El Encinarejo, Jándula and Rumblar amongst other large expanses of water found in the park. 🌿

ANDÚJAR AND SURROUNDINGS

In terms of monuments, Andújar is one of the most important localities in the province. The old quarter is presided over by the Plaza de España, which houses the Town Hall and the church of San Bartolomé. The Clocktower, the church of Santa María (that houses a laudable painting by El Greco, The Agony in the Garden) and the Niños de Don Gome Palace are three other buildings of particular artistic interest. On the outskirts, the Roman Bridge crosses the waters of the Guadalquivir descending towards Marmolejo. In the 18th century Gran Hotel it is still possible to take the medicinal mineral waters that made the town famous. The road linking the Sierra de Andújar with Baños de la Encina, via the Selladores-Contadero game preserve, is seldom used. It runs along the boundaries of the park and passes through pasture lands belonging to ranches raising fighting bulls. It leads to El Centenillo, a mining community that comes under the jurisdiction of Baños although it is historically linked to La Carolina. The architecture here reveals Victorian influences. 🇪🇸

The border natural park

The Autovía de Andalucía, the A-4 (E-5) Motorway crosses the park and serves as the gateway to southern Spain.

Despeñaperros

covers 7,469 hectares and is the smallest natural park in Jaén, pertaining in its entirety to the municipality of Santa Elena. The gorge, carved by the Despeñaperros River, forms a deep transversal cut through the Sierra Morena massif.

Despeñaaperros is a gorge spanned by a modern motorway over viaducts that cross the river bearing the same name. Gorges, ravines, rocky outcrops, waterfalls and precipices make up a rugged landscape full of unique geological formations. The smallest natural park in Andalusia boasts stunning vantage points. One of these is the roads leading up to Aldequemada. To one side is the Collado de los Jardines and caverns with cave paintings from Iberian times. To one side of the Nature Centre of the same name you can find a footpath leading up to the Despeñaaperros peak, from where you can clearly see the geographical layout of the park. Another tourist route through the park runs from Santa Elena to the hamlet of Miranda del Rey. On one side is the Museum of the Battle of Las Navas de Tolosa, the Castle and Battleground Route Visitor Centre, and the hillside known as Mesa del Rey, which was the site of this important battle in July 1212. 🇪🇸

ACTIVE TOURISM IN DESPEÑAPERROS

FROM VALDEAZORES TO THE SALTO DEL FRAILE

The Despeñaperros Natural Park is a highly unique protected space. It can be explored on foot or by mountain bike. One of the most interesting trails starts in the Valdeazores ravine and ends in the heights of Los Órganos. It passes through a humid Mediterranean forest, dotted with oak groves and gall oaks, shaded areas where streams of crystal clear water descend. The other trail links the hamlet of Miranda del Rey with the Salto del Fraile and follows part of the Camino Real, a route that in its day was travelled by Christian troops from the Battle of Navas de Tolosa. This trail ends at what is a spectacular waterfall during the winter and spring months.

ARCHAEOLOGY

THE IBERIAN "DOLLS"

The road leading up to the municipality of Aldequemada has the Cueva de Los Muñecos (Cave of the Dolls) to one side. This enormous horizontal crevice in the sheer mountain slope was used by the Iberian peoples as a shrine for worship. Hundreds of bronze figurines used as votive offerings by the local worshippers have been discovered here.

Despeñaperros is a geological rarity. It is now even easier to admire in all its glory. Widening work on the motorway, tunnels and viaducts has now been completed, enabling the old road to remain for the enjoyment of visitors. Here you can find beautiful vantage points, including one overlooking Los Órganos, a Natural Monument formed from immense vertical columns of quartzite. The river of the same name rushes through the gorge, merging below with the River Guarrizas, where you can find the Cimbarra waterfall. There are numerous trails open in the park such as the route up to the La Estrella peak, the highest peak in the Andalusian side of the Sierra Morena. This is reached by the road that has to one side the Museum of the Battle of Navas de Tolosa and the small community of Miranda del Rey. From here it is also possible to reach the La Aliseda recreational area, the former nineteenth century spa situated between the municipalities of Santa Elena and La Carolina.
